

Kerr Concentrates processes fruit and vegetables into concentrates, purees, puree concentrates and essences that will enrich your products with distinctive color and flavor. We can pack aseptically or frozen, and offer custom blending and onsite product development.

Located in the heart of the Willamette Valley, Kerr capitalizes on its immediate access to local crops. Our ability to source fresh raw materials from both domestic and offshore, and our state of the art technology, results in products with the freshness, taste and color that surpass industry standards.

With an experienced team, Kerr Concentrates is poised to continue its history as a leading provider of innovative solutions and quality products.
